What is ECO4 Funding?

The Energy Company Obligation (ECO) comprises the Home Heating Cost Reduction Obligation (HHCRO), also known as the 'Affordable Warmth' scheme. ECO4 is a government-backed energy efficiency initiative in Great Britain aimed at addressing fuel poverty and reducing carbon emissions. Under this scheme, major gas and electricity suppliers, such as British Gas, EDF Energy, Eon, Ovo, Scottish Power, and SSE, are mandated to assist households with energy efficiency measures including Electric Storage Heaters, Loft Insulation, Cavity Wall Insulation, Solid Wall Insulation, and Boiler Replacement or Repair. Funding is provided to eligible individuals to help reduce heating costs by installing energy-efficient measures like Storage Heaters, Loft, Floor, Cavity, and IWI Internal Wall Insulation.

How ECO Works

Medium and large energy suppliers finance the installation of energy efficiency measures in British households. Each obligated supplier has a target determined by its share of the domestic energy market in Britain. These suppliers collaborate with installers to introduce various efficiency measures into homes, such as loft, floor, or wall insulation, as well as heating measures.

Understanding the Obligation

The Home Heating Cost Reduction Obligation (HHCRO) mandates energy suppliers to promote measures leading to financial savings on energy bills, including insulation and heating installations.

Eligibility

You qualify for ECO if you own and reside in your own home or are in privately rented accommodation.

Receiving Benefits?

If you receive any of the listed benefits, you are eligible for HHCRO funding under ECO4. The benefit recipient can be anyone residing in the house as the end-user.

Not Receiving Benefits?

If you do not receive any of the listed benefits, you may qualify under LA FLEX (Local Authority Flex) or LADS (Local Authority Delivery Scheme). We offer various finance packages, including 0% interest options with no upfront costs. Contact our lettings team by emailing them with a copy of your Current EPC Certification and an image of your boiler for a headstart on your assessment.
